

Now You Can Laugh Every Day With

GRACIE ALLEN

Radio's carefree comic queen brings her mad fun to readers in a
daily newspaper panel.

“I Always Say:”

GRACIE ALLEN'S gay nonsense, as funny in print as on the air; with pictures by the famous O. SOGLOW.

Begins TOMORROW in
THE DAILY INQUIRER

I Always Say:—

THAT it's a good thing beauty is only skin-deep. For instance, think how terrible poor Georgie Porgie would feel if his looks went clear to the bone!

THAT all golfers would be better off if they knew how to figure their handicap like my Georgie Porgie does. Georgie is marvelous! His handicap in golf is that he just can't play it Isn't he smart?

THAT it's very narrow-minded to call a girl a "June bride" just because she gets married in June. Lots of those who get married in June are married clear into the month of July.

THAT it's a good thing Summer doesn't come during the Winter on account of think how silly people would look wearing sun-goggles to keep their feet from freezing.

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT an ostrich has a lot more intelligence than people think he has, unless he's a "she". In that case, "she" has even more intelligence—imagine being able to lay eggs from that height without breaking them!

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

THAT mother knows best. All mothers say they hope their little boys will grow up to be President; but did you ever hear of a mother saying she hoped her boy would grow up to be a Congressman?

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT too much sympathy is wasted on pretzels. A pretzel has a happier life than anybody, on account of it's always being invited to parties where there's plenty of beer!

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT what this country needs is a good five cent phone call; Either that or a combination phone and slot machine so that for a nickel you can get a stick of gum with every wrong number.

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT a man with a machine-gun in a violin case isn't always a gangster. He might be just a musician who wants to be ready to defend himself in case he's mistaken for Jack Benny.

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT it's a public disgrace that marriage licenses and dog licenses cost the same amount! If they charge two dollars for a license to have a husband, then a dog license ought to be worth ten!

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—
(Sez Gracie Allen)

O. SAGLOW.

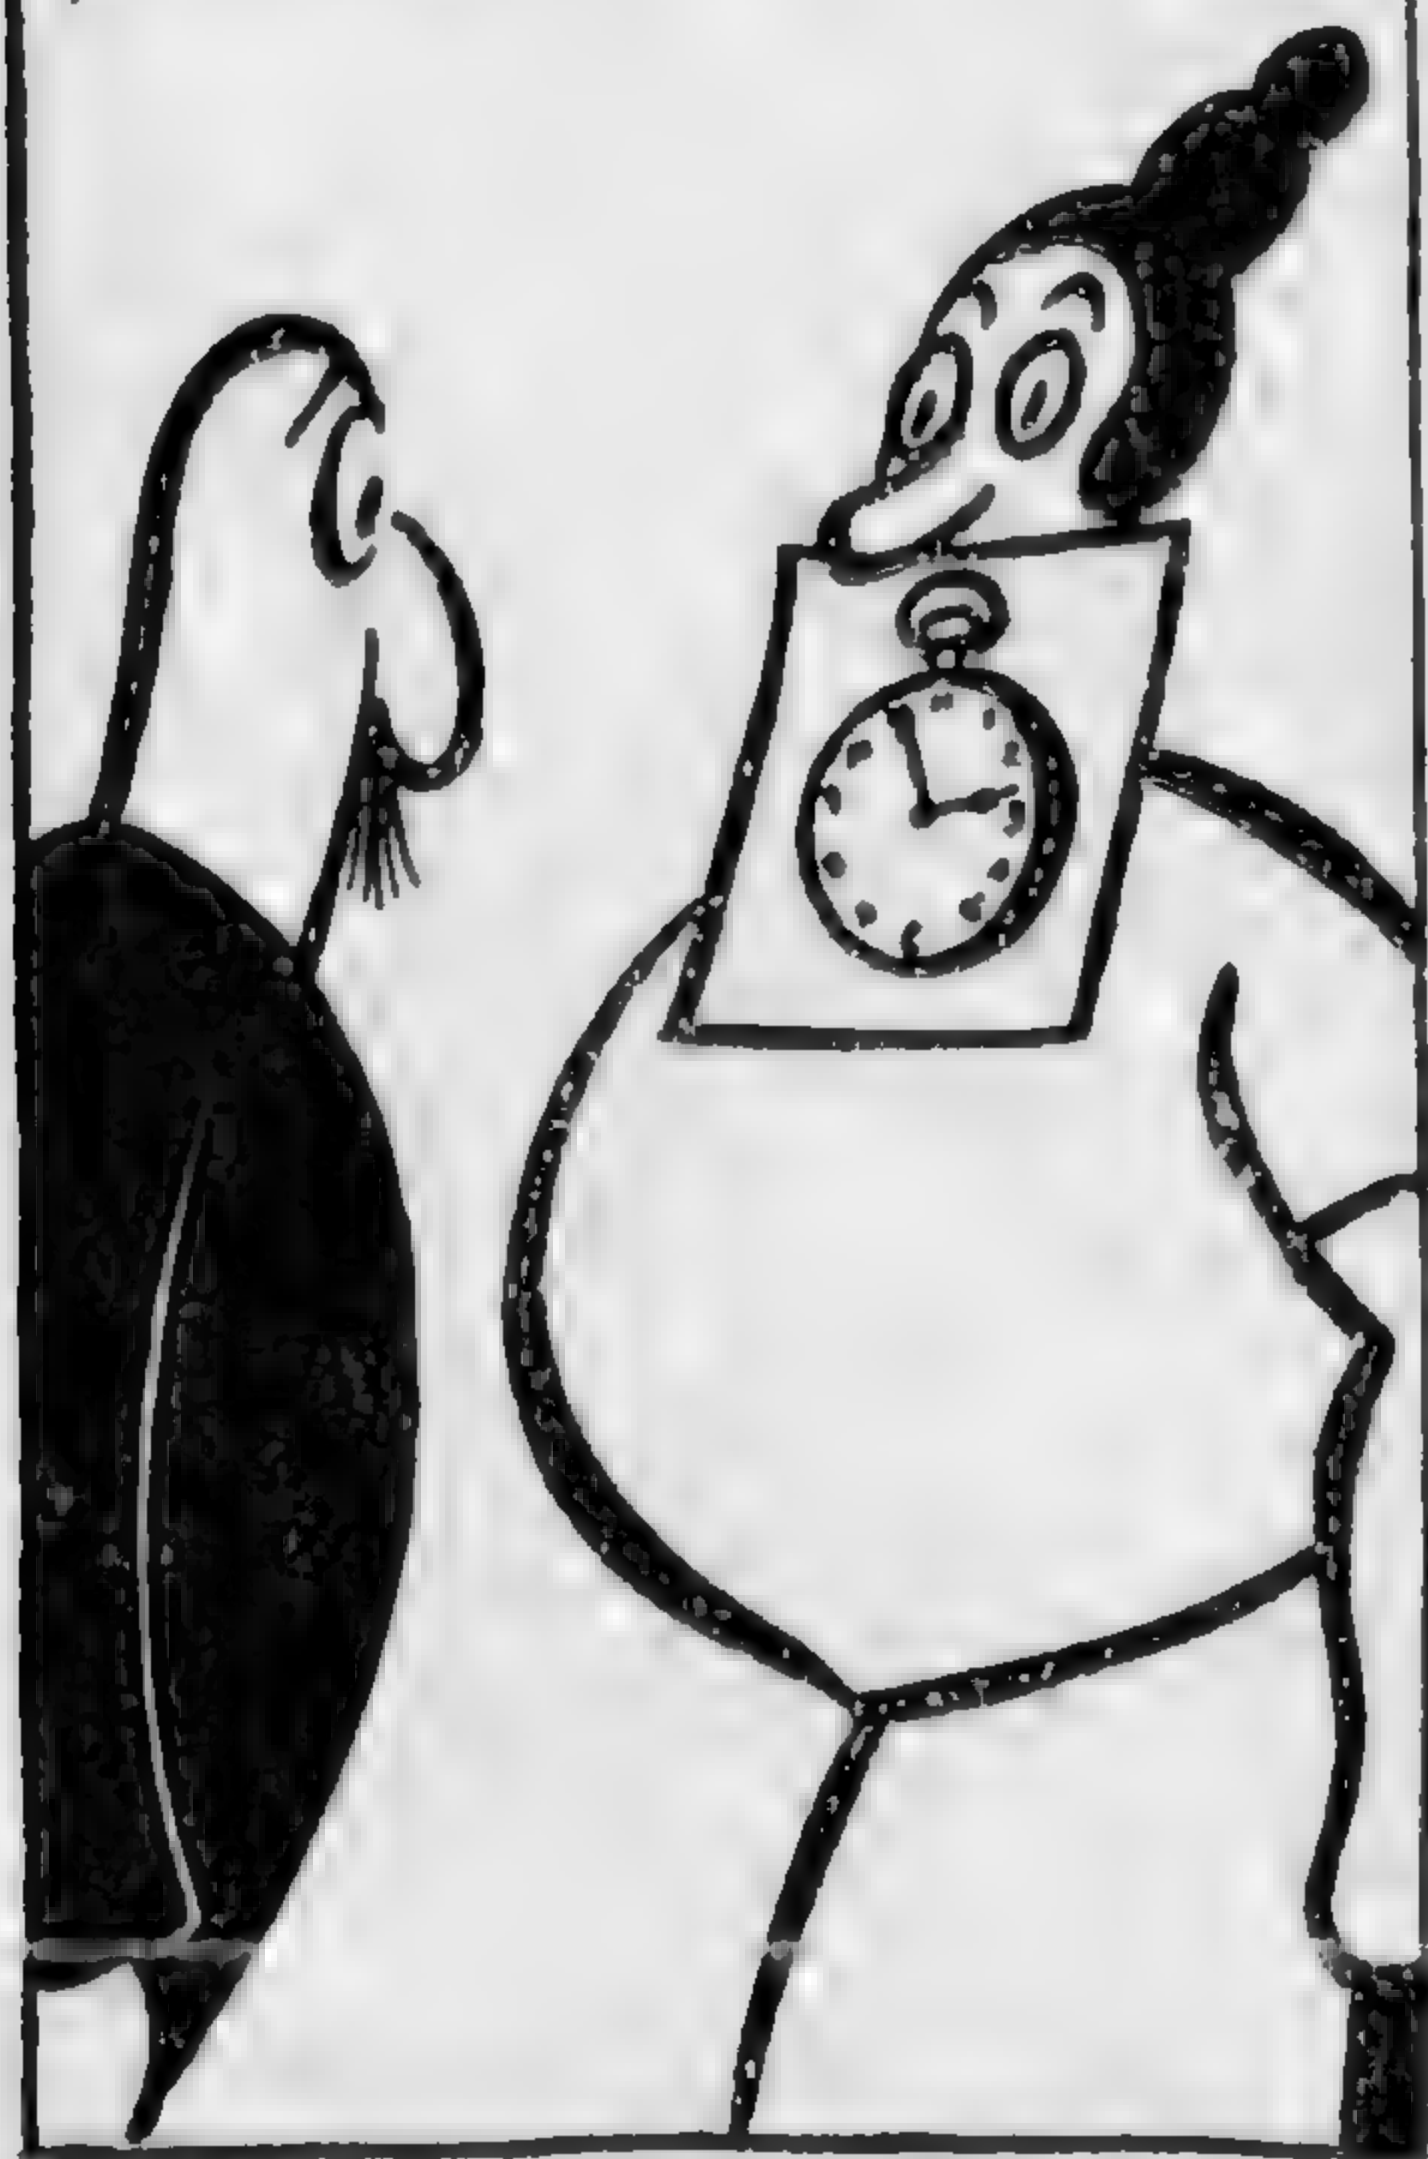

THAT when you marry a man, don't kid yourself into thinking you're marrying him "for better or for worse." Just admit you're marrying him "for worse" and he's bound to make good!

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

THAT Daddy knows best. For instance, instead of pasting a picture in his watch to remind him of my Mother, Daddy has a picture of his watch pasted on Mother—to remind him he pawned the watch.

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT whoever made up the saying about "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," was wasting his time, on account of who would want to trade any other way? Imagine swapping a tooth for a leg—or vice versa.

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

THAT a rose by any other name would sometimes smell even sweeter. For instance, look how much more popular a gasoline filling station would be if they called it a "gasaloon."

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:-

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT the moving pictures did plenty to make the depression easier to bear. Just think how many thousands of families were made happy every day on account of they couldn't afford to go to the movies.

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT when you hear a man bragging that all he has he owes to his mother, it doesn't mean that he's giving his mother any credit. She's been giving him credit and can't collect.

Gracie Allen

I Always Say:—

(Sez Gracie Allen)

THAT fishing is the finest sport in the world to build a man up. Nothing else develops a man's arms and shoulders like showing how big the fish were that got away. Am I right?

Gracie Allen

I Always Say—

BY GRACIE ALLEN.

That there are times when it must be grand to be a bearded lady. For instance, when you wanted a facial at the beauty shop, all you'd have to do is sit with your face and whiskers in one of those curling machines!
